

FINDINGS SUSTAIN SUPPRESSED REPORT BY A. M. RICHMOND

Government Advised Full Year Ago That Affairs Of Hedley Amalgamated Were Misrepresented —Cores Salted Over Successive Periods to Conceal Low Values, Reports Show

IN reports by five provincial officials exceeding 200 closely-typed pages, pages which told that the public had been systematically duped for more than a year with respect to the immediate prospects of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines, Ltd., Premier Pattullo yesterday made public the text of the Fraser, Richmond, Hedley, Stewart and Walker findings.

Chief among these was the final report of Commissioner G. L. Fraser, which largely substantiated the report of A. M. Richmond, former British Columbia resident mining engineer, who more than a year ago drew the attention of the Province to excessive claims for the property and the possibility that core samples had been salted with outside gold.

PUBLIC NOT TOLD
Commissioner Fraser's report censured the Province for failure to bring pertinent facts in its possession effectively to the attention of the public; disclosed that salting had taken place repeatedly, and quoted the Richmond report, which in April, 1936, had declared that claims of an indicated ore body of 1,015,000 tons, worth $7,246,281, were being made on behalf of the company for a property which at that time had no significant quantity of commercial ore in sight.

Elsewhere in the consolidated reports it was disclosed that Mr. Richmond's successor, Dr. M. S. Hedley, had been duped by the salting.

LEADER STATES PARTY PLEDGES

T. R. Selkirk Chosen to Contest Royal City Riding For Conservatives

NEW WESTMINSTER, May 10 (P).—T. R. Selkirk, local barrister, tonight was the unanimous choice of a Conservative nominating convention to represent the party in New Westminster riding at the provincial general election, June 1.

Mr. Selkirk was chosen after Dr. Frank Patterson, British Columbia Conservative party leader, had addressed the convention.

Declaring that the old system of a government "existing for the sake of the party" must end, Dr. Patterson predicted a change of government at the polls June 1.

OUTLINES PARTY PLEDGES
The Conservative chief promised, if elected:

To drastically reduce the cost of government, starting at the top; to eliminate a "lot of useless commissions and inquiries"; to divorce the Civil Service absolutely from politics and model it upon the lines of the British Civil Service; to keep the expenses of the Province within its revenues; immediate appointment of a highway commission; relief for the municipalities.

Of the latter promise, Dr. Patterson said "We cannot have prosperity in the province unless we have prosperous municipalities."

MOTORCYCLIST IS HURT IN MISHAP

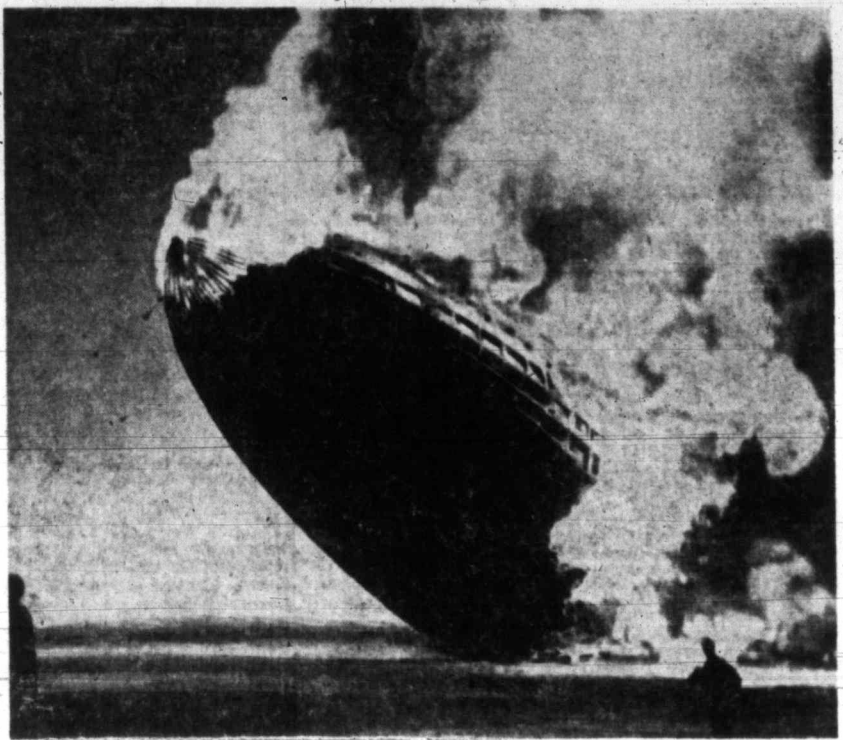

John Newbigging Thrown Heavily To Pavement While Traveling On Victor Street

John Newbigging, 546 Alpha Street, lies in the Jubilee Hospital suffering from concussion, possible internal injuries and severe bruises sustained when his motorcycle struck a sunken manhole cover on Victor Street at 8 o'clock last evening and threw him to the pavement.

Police report Newbigging's machine traveled eighty-eight feet after striking the depression and before throwing him heavily to the road. The motorcycle traveled another sixteen feet and toppled over.

Newbigging was taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the police patrol and attended by Dr. Charles A. Watson. Inspector John T. Boulton and Constables Roy Woolley, Peria Atkinson and John Blackstock responded to the accident.

Flames Destroy Dirigible Hindenburg

Pictured as it collapsed to the ground in flames, the huge German dirigible Hindenburg was reduced to a mass of twisted wreckage following a terrific explosion that killed thirty-five of some ninety-nine persons aboard, as the ship arrived at Lakehurst, N.J., Thursday. The giant Zeppelin carried 6,710,000 cubic feet of highly inflammable hydrogen gas, some of which it was feared may have leaked and been touched off by an electric spark.

"Glacier Priest" Making Ready for Eighteen Months' Exile

SEATTLE, May 10 (P).—Preparing for eighteen months of exile on lonely King Island, in Bering Strait, an advance party for Father Bernard Hubbard, S.J., the "Glacier Priest" of Santa Clara, Cal., University, arrived here today and began assembling equipment.

Father Hubbard and his party will sail from here on May 20 on the coast guard cutter Northland for King Island, which lies in the strait northwest of Nome. Edgar Levin, San Jose, Cal., and Kenneth Chisholm, San Francisco, making arrangements for the trip, said Father Hubbard, in Chicago today, would return to Santa Clara by May 17 and leave there immediately for Seattle. The purpose of the expedition is to translate the Eskimo language into an English-Eskimo dictionary.

Cross-Section Cut of United Kingdom Life From Royalty to Businessmen—Two Queens Are Given Royal Victorian Chain

LONDON, May 10 (P).—Thirteen peerages, thirteen Privy Counsellors, seven baronetcies and almost 100 knights, with columns of promotions and appointments in the various orders, figure in the long list of those whom the King honors on the occasion of his coronation.

Again, among the Dominions, no titles go to Canada, South Africa or the Irish Free State. Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General, and Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, however, are made "right honorable" by appointment to the Privy Council. The Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, 1930-35, who holds an Irish peerage, is created an Earl in the Peerage of the United Kingdom.

Two Men Charged With Conspiracy In Hedley Case Appear in Police Court

VANCOUVER, May 10 (P).—Jack Fraser, charged jointly with William Cox with conspiracy to defraud in their actions as officials of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines, Ltd., tonight was released from his city jail cell on $4,000 bail. Cox was still in custody.

Fraser's release came after he and Cox appeared before Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court and were remanded until tomorrow with bail set at $4,000 each. Fraser secured Philip S. Marsden as his counsel, and the latter arranged the bail.

Police said Cox had not yet secured counsel.

Scant Hope Of Ending Bus Strike

LONDON, May 10 (P).—Unless sensational last-minute developments occur, there will be no buses on London's streets on Coronation Day.

Delegates of the 25,000 striking bus conductors and drivers voted forty-seven to three at a conference today to reject the offer of the London Passenger Transport Board to arbitrate all claims by the men except a shorter day.

The executive of the Transport and General Workers' Union will meet tomorrow and is expected to discuss the question of extending the strike to men working on tramways, trolley-buses and subways.

FIGHT FIRE AT SAN FRANCISCO

Eight Firemen Injured in Desperate Battle Against Waterfront Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10 (P).—Damage estimated at $200,000 was caused and eight firemen were injured today when a four-alarm fire broke out on the waterfront. It endangered the freighter Delaroff, and burned for three hours before it was controlled by 350 firemen, forty-two engines and four fireboats.

Fire Chief Charles J. Brennan, who estimated the damage, said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

The flames were confined to Pier 30A and apparently broke out among the heavily creosoted piling under the structure, leased by the State Steamship Company.

The Delaroff, operated by the Alaska Packers' Association, was tied at the wharf, but was cut loose and towed out into the bay. The freighter escaped with slight damage.

Water and smoke damage to a considerable tonnage of general cargo on the pier was included in the general estimate of loss. It had been unloaded from Dollar Line ships.

TWO ARE SAVED FROM DROWNING

Husband Plunges Into First Narrows to Aid Wife Knocked Off Boat

VANCOUVER, May 10 (P).—Swept from the deck of the forty-nine-foot yacht Uvula by a swinging boom, Mrs. Arthur Harris Jeffers, and her husband, who plunged to her aid, struggled for twenty minutes in the chill waters of the First Narrows yesterday before being rescued by C. P. W. Schwengers, formerly of Victoria.

Wind suction, caused by a passing boat, brought the boom over unexpectedly, hurling Mrs. Jeffers into the water. Jeffers leapt to her rescue. Although a weak swimmer, he managed to support her until help came.

Adverse winds and the strong tide prevented Fred O. Mills, New Westminster, owner of the yacht, from bringing the vessel back to the spot where the couple struggled.

They had been in the water twenty minutes before C. P. W. Schwengers arrived to their aid in the forty-foot power boat, Northern Light. As the couple were unable to reach the life-line thrown to them, a dinghy was lowered and they were dragged to safety.

Schwengers returned Mr. and Mrs. Jeffers to the city, where it was found that they suffered no ill effects.

Coronation Spirit Manifested by Thronging Crowds At Palace Gates—King and Queen Preside at State Dinner With 450 Guests—Human Stream Pours Into London

LONDON, May 10 (P).—A gala atmosphere pervaded London tonight from the glitter of the West End to the slum districts of the East, where the most colorful arrays of flags and bunting hid the poverty of the slums.

The Coronation spirit manifested itself in the crowds thronging around Buckingham Palace and almost mobbing royalty arriving for a brilliant state banquet.

NEARLY LOST IN HURRICANE

Twenty Seamen Are Injured When Ship Battered by Four-Hour Storm

SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 10 (P).—The freighter City of Singapore, battered by an eighty-mile-an-hour hurricane for four hours while 150 miles at sea, limped into the harbor here late today with twenty injured seamen and a deadly cyanide cargo floating in one hold.

The ship's master, Capt. T. R. Watkins, said the hurricane was the worst he had experienced in forty years at sea.

NO WARNING GIVEN
The skipper said the freighter, which left the harbor yesterday for Manila with a full cargo of general merchandise after bunkering here, was struck by the hurricane at midnight on Sunday without warning.

"The wind was better than eighty miles an hour," said the veteran skipper. "For four hours the waves broke high over the ship, and for a time we thought we were all going down. It happened so suddenly that with all the crew on deck we didn't have time to batten down the hatches."

WHITE HORSE MAN WINS YUKON POOL

Ice Breaks Up at Dawson and Bets Are Settled—Usual Roar Is Missing

DAWSON, Y.T., May 10 (P).—The Yukon River broke up today, but without the usual cracking roar that in former years brought half the town of Dawson to the river bank with the cry, "She's moving!"

Though the spectacle of the breakup was missed by many, excitement ran high in this one-time gold-rush centre as destinations of a $6,500 pool and private bets were settled.

Charles T. Atherton, of White Horse, member of the council for Southern Yukon, won the $3,500 pool, holding the ticket timed 11:48 a.m., the exact time of the breakup.

Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie Arrive at Croydon From New York After "Tough Trip" With Some Bad Weather

CROYDON AIRDROME, May 10 (P).—Dick Merrill and Jack Lambie, flying the Atlantic "just to break the monotony" of life, arrived tonight on the first half of their round-trip flight from New York to London.

Their silver, twin-engine Electra, its radio apparatus damaged, first landed at North Weald airdrome, fifteen miles north of London. Ten minutes later they were in the air again, and at 6:35 p.m. 6:35 a.m. P.S.T. they came in at Croydon, 20 hours and 59 minutes after leaving New York.

Merrill said: "We flew blind the entire way. It was a pretty tough trip." Both insisted they were in fine condition, however, and expected to be back in New York Thursday, to deliver Coronation pictures.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 10 (P).—Prince Charles, nephew of King Gustav and brother of the late Queen Astrid of the Belgians, tonight became the third member of the Swedish royal family in recent years to renounce rights of succession to the throne for love of a woman not of royal blood.

King Gustav told the Royal Council the prince had been given permission to marry Countess Elsa von Rosen, daughter of the Earl Master of Ceremonies.

The countess is seven years older than the prince, and although titled, is not of royal blood.

The prince will take the family name of Bernadotte and will wed the countess shortly in Belgium, it was understood.

M. J. Coldwell Flays Records of Liberals In B.C. and Ottawa

National Vice-Chairman of C.C.F. From Prairies Unconcerned If Few or Many of His Party Members Are Elected

"IN the forthcoming election you may only return a small C.C.F. group in the Legislature, but what of it? Remember there are only six members of the movement in the House at Ottawa, but those six are declared by such a reactionary paper as The Financial Post to be the best read, most active members of the Commons. Whether you elect few or many, remember, humanity is on the march, and many of us will see the day it foreshadows."

In these words, M. J. Coldwell, M.P. for Rosetown-Biggar, Saskatchewan, and national vice-chairman of the movement, concluded an appeal to adherents of the party to support local candidates in the forthcoming election, when he spoke before a meeting which crowded the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last night.

C.C.F. candidates for Victoria and Esquimalt were seated on the platform, and spoke briefly before Mr. Coldwell made the speech of the evening.

CORONATION EXPENDITURE

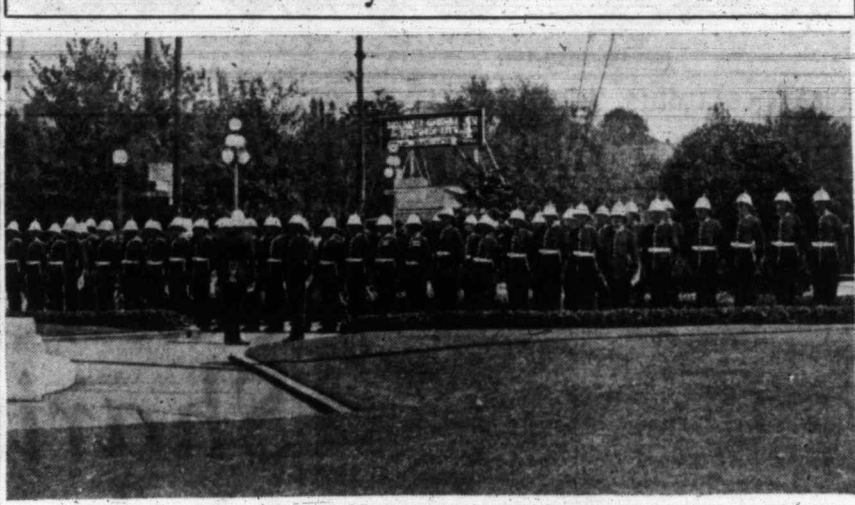

Driving home his points with a quick, upward, incisive gesture of his hand, he opened up an attack on Capitalism, "the old line parties," the record of the Pattullo Government and the shortcomings of the Mackenzie King Administration. Mr. Coldwell made a scathing reference to Canada's rearmament programme, and was critical of the $150,000,000 that is being spent on the Coronation ceremonies, though, he said, "this is no reflection upon their Majesties."

In passing reference to G. G. McGeer, K.C., M.P., and using the former Vancouver mayor as an example to show the inconsistencies of Liberalism, he maintained that when Mr. McGeer was made mayor, he was willing "to throw the sheriff in the bay, but almost the first thing he did on taking office was to read the Riot Act to a group of young fellows who only asked the right to live."

CRITICIZES SOCIAL CREDIT

He urges his listeners not "to be led up a blind alley by the Social Crediters," maintaining that it had been adequately proven to the people of Alberta, that Social Credit was an economic fallacy. "Money is a title to goods," he said, "and no government can give a title to goods it does not possess, unless there is ownership of the means of production by the people." The C.C.F. Mr. Coldwell maintained, was the first to declare the principles of Premier Abernethy fallacious.

Speaking of the Yukon and its suggested association with this province, the speaker asserted that it would only be an additional burden to British Columbia, and that so far as Ottawa is concerned, "Mr. Pattullo is welcome to it." He declared further that the Federal Administration would make no more contributions to the Western provinces, since the East has no conception of the problems existing here.

"A new day is dawning," he said. "Don't be afraid if it is slightly tinged with red."

CANDIDATES HEARD

Nigel Morgan, William Caird, Mrs. K. A. Bell and James J. Walker, C.C.F. candidates for election in Victoria, and Don Smith, candidate in Esquimalt, were also heard.

Mr. Morgan made an eloquent plea for youth, declaring it was the aim of the party to work as constructively and humanely as possible. Mr. Caird compared conditions in Canada with those existing in New Zealand, and suggested that what could be done there, could also be done here, if the people only demanded it. Mrs. Bell, first woman to represent the C.C.F. in Victoria, maintained that she believed in the ethics of a revolutionary Christianity, which were to be found in the constructive programme of the party. Mr. Walker suggested there was no good reason for relief and unemployment in an age of plenty, while Mr. Smith declared the C.C.F. had contended the Liberals could not maintain their election pledges made in 1933, and that they had not.

Joseph Round occupied the chair.

CORONATION celebrations this evening will include the last performance of the historical pageant, "Romance of the British Empire," by 500 public school students in the Royal Victoria Theatre at 8 o'clock; a flannel dance at Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and another organized by District Council of the Canadian Legion at the Crystal Garden. Esquimalt's annual school sports will be held at Fitz-Herbert Bullen Park this afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Tomorrow morning, there will be an official broadcast of King George VI's Coronation speech in Parliament Square, followed by a feu-de-joe and royal salute from naval and military units. Troops and representatives of other organizations will take up their positions before 10:40 o'clock.

Oak Bay school students will stage a Coronation celebration on Oak Bay High School grounds at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow. Patsy Watson will be crowned queen of the day to preside over various sports. At 7 o'clock in the evening, a children's performance of the Festival of British Music will commence at Christ Church Cathedral. The festival will be repeated Thursday and Friday evenings. At dusk there will be a fireworks display at the Inner Harbor, and free public dances at the Chamber of Commerce and Crystal Garden. The Kinsmen Club Coronation Ball will take place at the Empress Hotel.

of the original bore, and found only low grade values in holes for which company and other reports had claimed values up to in excess of $2,000 per ton.

VALUES, BY SALTING

Mr. Stewart on May 4, 1937, reported, in part:

"The results of this drilling show clearly in the case of two holes at least that the values obtained were obtained entirely by salting. The test is incomplete in that it does not cover the complete range of operations, and does not show when this salting began, nor whether the shareholders had any grounds for believing that ore exists in quantity in the workings of the property, or as shown by other drill holes."

Wedging into new ground from No. 3 and No. 7 holes in the workings, Mr. Stewart reported: "In no single case in either of these holes was there an assay showing commercial value. The results are conclusive that no values existed."

"The proof," Mr. Stewart continued in his report, "is to my mind conclusive that all commercial values obtained in these two holes were due to foreign material of high grade introduced into the samples."

Referring to four other holes in the Red Tunnel adit, Mr. Stewart said: "It is entirely possible that the samples from these holes were likewise tampered with."

He found, he said, "no visual evidence of ore from the cores of the McKinnon Tunnel," and added:

FOUND NO VALUES

"There is no evidence that I have seen of any mineralization whatever, corresponding in amount to the mineralization of the Hedley district, which ordinarily carry at least from 8 to 10 per cent sulphides. I doubt that in the cores examined by me there is any part of them, except perhaps odd streaks of an inch or two, which would carry more than 3 per cent of sulphides, and this is probably a liberal allowance."

"It is difficult for me to see how any competent superintendent or foreman in charge of operations, knowing the general character of the ores of the district, could have passed the assays which have been turned into the company without questioning the accuracy of the sampling and without careful checking, especially in view of the lack of mineralization in the ore covered by this tunnel and the drill holes," the Stewart report concluded.

Made to the Government on April 14, 1936, after he had resigned from the Provincial Civil Service as resident mining engineer, the report of A. M. Richmond on the first tunnel was contained in fifty-three pages, with nearly as much again in appendices. In his main conclusions, Mr. Richmond said:

A. M. RICHMOND REPORTED

"The underground development and diamond drilling at the Red Tunnel adit workings so far has not indicated any appreciable tonnage of commercial ore. The sampling of the 'oxidized ore body' shows it to contain an average of 0.128 ounces gold per ton, which is too low grade to be considered as ore. Only one short section of the mineralization exposed in this 'oxidized ore body' approaches a value that could be considered ore. This thirty-foot section averages 0.27 ounces gold per ton across an average thickness of fifty-eight inches."

"The sampling of the mineralization exposed in the west crosscut of the main north drift failed to indicate the presence of any ore whatever. This is a serious difference from the $12 per ton value given to this section by the company."

Mr. Richmond reported further that the diamond drilling could "not be said to indicate the presence of any large tonnage of ore," and gave

CYCLIST HURT BY AUTOMOBILE DOOR

While proceeding along Fort Street at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on his bicycle, W. Barrett ran into the door of an automobile being opened by Mrs. Anita Hunter, 911 Linden Avenue, who was parked in the 900 block. The cyclist received a cut over his right eye, but was able to proceed, police report.

PARTY WILL NOT MAKE PROMISES

Don Smith, C.C.F. Candidate In Esquimalt, Makes Declaration at Meeting

"The C.C.F. does not and will not make promises. If you think the time has arrived for a co-operative commonwealth to come into being, then we are ready to lead the way."

This declaration was the kernel of the challenge delivered by Don Smith, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt riding for the Provincial Legislature, at his opening meeting last evening in St. Paul's Parish Hall, Esquimalt.

"FIGHT ONLY BEGUN"

"When we come into office," said Mr. Smith, "the fight will have only begun. We shall not meet for a few weeks, pass a few laws and go home for the rest of the year. We are going to clip the wings of the capitalistic interests, and anyone who does that will have a fight on his hands. We want your votes now, but we also want your moral support after the election is over."

"We stand solidly behind the Regina manifesto, which aims to give to the people as a whole control of the means of production. Only evolution can create a new order, but the C.C.F. stands ready to remove from the path those obstacles to progress which the old-line parties have fostered."

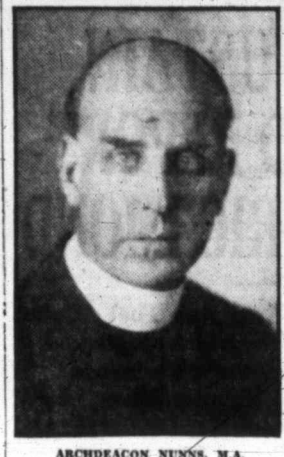

BROKEN LIBERAL PROMISES

Four years ago, said Mr. Smith, the C.C.F. had prophesied that the Liberal party would not implement its promises for work and wages and similar social reforms. Now the C.C.F. reiterated its conviction that the Government would not carry out the promises it was now making. Instead of representing the people as a whole, it had devoted itself to the interests of a "certain class," he charged. Financed by "the nickels and dimes" of its supporters, the C.C.F. was fighting against odds, but some day it would achieve its purpose, he predicted.

M. J. Coldwell, M.P. (Rosetown-Biggar, Sask.), and Elmer Roper, C.C.F. organizer in Alberta, spoke at the meeting in support of Mr. Smith. John Smith, Langford, presided.

CANON NUNNS GIVEN HONOR

Rector of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, Instituted Honorary Archdeacon

ARCHDEACON NUNNS, M.A.

An announcement of special interest to the clergy of the Diocese of Columbia in general, and to the parish of St. Mary's, Oak Bay in particular, was made by Right Rev. Harold E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia, at the conclusion of the impressive pre-Coronation service at St. Mary's on Sunday morning, when the congregation heard that the rector, Rev. Canon Nunn, had been made an honorary archdeacon of the diocese.

In making the announcement, Bishop Sexton spoke of the special attributes of Canon Nunn, particularly in regard to his parochial work, which the bishop considered was of the utmost importance in any diocese. He expressed the opinion that St. Mary's was the best organized parish in the diocese.

Lindley Crease, K.C., then read the Deed of Institution, after which the bishop formally admitted Canon Nunn to his new dignity and bestowed his blessing.

DEAN SPEAKS

The principal speaker of the evening was Dean Quinlan, who gave an outline of the aims and objects of the campaign after rehearsing the history of the Friendly Help Welfare Association. In connection with the latter phase of the subject, he recalled the splendid work of Miss Mary Lawson and, much later, of Miss Snyder, in connection with the Friendly Help Society, of which the present welfare association was an outgrowth.

The organization was primarily concerned with the work of helping people to help themselves. In the main it left to the initiative of the people needing its services to make the first advances, but always with the attitude of ready and friendly willingness to help. This "help" was of manifold nature, one of the important avenues through which assistance was given to families being the teaching of budgeting, with emphasis on the importance of buying economically.

A SQUARE DEAL

"Some people say that the poor ought to be contented. I have no patience with such sentiment. I have noticed, too, that some of the people who say that are themselves not contented, but eagerly watch for every opportunity to add to their own incomes," said the Dean.

The association is organized to get a square deal for the working man. He hoped canvassers would use both head and heart.

Associated with E. W. McMullen, general chairman of the campaign, are N. F. Ferris as honorary treasurer; A. R. Heiter, chairman of letting and assessing; Miss Elizabeth Grubb, chairman of publicity; Rev. F. Comley, announcements, speakers and radio; and W. H. Davies, programmes and catering. Frank Paulding, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., is directing the 100-canvassers.

There will be a second dinner meeting on Friday night at 8 o'clock at Spencer's dining-room to receive the reports of the various divisions.

SPENDTHRIFT IDEAS

Premier T. D. Pattullo charges the Conservative Party in the present election campaign with having no new ideas. It is perhaps as well that party should have none, because such ideas always involve fresh expenditures and added taxation. The present Government, during its three and a half years in power, promulgated some new "ideas." One was the Fraser River Bridge, which, when completed, will cost upwards of $4,000,000. It promulgated the theory that Cabinet Ministers should be forever on the wing going to and fro upon the long stretches of the Dominion, and that idea ran the taxpayers into an expense of many scores of thousands of dollars. The Government, too, conceived marketing control, which meant taxation on produce so that a bureaucracy could handle goods which previously escaped such taxation. As well, the Government spent upwards of $100,000 on promoting compulsory health insurance, legislation which is a dead letter on the statute books. These, seemingly, are what constitute "new ideas." The great majority of the taxpayers are opposed to them.

It might be conceived, too, that Mr. Pattullo's election slogan of the last campaign, that of "Work and Wages," was a new idea. It died a-borning because the Government failed to implement its pre-election promise. Mr. Pattullo says that British Columbia cannot provide services for the people—for 700,000 people—without borrowing, despite the fact that it collects some $25,000,000 in taxes annually. As the Province grows, the collection of taxes increases, but so does the debt. It is the negation of statesmanship to say that the latter must be the case. Mr. Pattullo says, too, that it was a Liberal Government which gave grants and aids to municipalities, though he admits that those municipalities are $800,000 poorer than they were in 1928. What he does not say is that it was a Liberal Government, of which he was a member, that told those same municipalities that "they must stew in their own juice."

There is not a word in any of Mr. Pattullo's pronouncements which indicates that there is any intention of introducing economy in administration. He has no ideas on this subject. He will not reduce the size of the Legislature; he intends to increase the personnel of the Cabinet, which means building up a new department which may easily cost an additional $100,000 a year. Mr. Pattullo does not intend to take the Civil Service out of politics. Partisanship is to continue. The Premier admits that the Government's health insurance legislation is experimental, whereas its proponents, when it was outlined and when it was before the Legislature, described it as the best act yet devised and far ahead of that in force for so long in Great Britain. He admits that the Government believes in health insurance, and therefore it will be tried on this issue as well as others at the polls. What Mr. Pattullo has refrained from saying is whether or not the Government will be bound by the decision of the people in the forthcoming plebiscite. There is, as yet, no undertaking given that if health insurance is defeated the Government will not go on tinkering with this form of legislation. What is promised is that if the answer is in the affirmative, compulsory insurance will be "progressively applied," presumably with the intention of ultimately embracing everybody.

It is not new ideas, which mean added taxation, that the people of British Columbia want. The need is for every governmental energy to be concentrated on cutting down the costs of administration, which are alarmingly heavy for a Province with such a sparse population. It is balanced budgets British Columbia wants. There is a crying need for a period to be put to the saturnalia of borrowing. A smaller Legislature and fewer Cabinet Ministers will discourage spendthrift zeal. Moreover, there is a well-established belief in the public mind that Cabinet Ministers have offices to which they should devote their attention, and that their peripatetic proclivities should be rigidly circumscribed. The variety of counts against the present Liberal Administration is the explanation of why it should be so much on the defence in the present election campaign.

POLITICAL COMPULSION

By this time the probability is that most people have made up their minds how they will vote on the compulsory health insurance plebiscite. There are some voters who favor the principle, but among these many are perturbed because they do not know what is contemplated. There are others of the opinion that this social legislation might be applied with advantage to the lower grades of salaries and wages, but they dislike the words in the plebiscite that the legislation should be "progressively applied." That indicates a desire on the part of the present Government to include everyone ultimately in the scheme. That makes it an issue for all the voters, for all of them, if an affirmative answer is given, may be absorbed under compulsion eventually, and we are persuaded that there is no desire on the part of the electorate as a whole that this should happen.

The Provincial Government, once it found the legislation it devised for compulsory health insurance to be inoperative and decided to consult the people on the subject should have taken the issue out of party politics. Those Liberals who are supporting such insurance openly on the platforms of the election campaign are doing so, very naturally, on the basis of the legislation now on the statute books. They have nothing else on which to go. That legislation, which met with almost unanimous disavowal from the medical profession of the Province, was heralded as efficient and actuarially sound. It was proclaimed as superior to the legislation under which compulsory health insurance operates in Great Britain. Despite the claims made for it there is no question that the scheme is half-baked, yet it represents the product of so-called experts, and it is the same experts who would be called upon to devise amendments to that legislation or to devise a new Act, in the event of the plebiscite being answered in the affirmative. The fact is that the Government is asking for an authority in connection with compulsion that it did not venture to exercise in the present Act. This is a point to be borne in mind by the electors when they vote on the plebiscite.

The outstanding arrangement against State Medicine is that it means interference with private and domestic affairs. It is discriminative legislation at its worst, because, as well as taxing prospective beneficiaries, it taxes those who will not benefit at all. That is not only a wrong but a vicious principle. Moreover, among the prospective beneficiaries some are to be taxed more than others, and for exactly the same services. There is, in other words, discriminative taxation. Then, again, no matter how much money a prospective beneficiary may have paid into the fund of the Health Insurance Commission, if he ceases being taxed through being out of a job he is not eligible for the benefits, and yet it may be that sickness will occur during unemployment. There is also another angle of compulsory health insurance as envisioned by the present Government. The benefits are only operative within a strictly limited time. A lengthy illness means that a "beneficiary" will have to pay most of his doctor's and hospital bills himself. He will have to provide for himself during convalescence.

Under the character of the health insurance proposed in British Columbia many firms and industries will be justified in abandoning those schemes which they now operate for the benefit of their employees in the matter of health. There are scores of business and industrial undertakings which now pay their employees full wages or salaries when the latter are absent through illness. Many of them, too, have other forms of insurance. These will logically have to be dropped should State Medicine enter the arena of public welfare. Employers cannot be expected to duplicate the Government's efforts when they are being taxed because those efforts are being made. The fact is that thousands of employees in British Columbia will be worse off in a financial sense under compulsory health insurance than they are today.

The voters in the forthcoming plebiscite are asked to buy a pig in a poke. They do not know to what they would be committing themselves by voting in the affirmative. They only know that they are being asked to give approval to the existing legislation, to its amendment, or to a new Act, and, in addition, to approve it to the extent of having it applied to everyone. If the people are in favor of draughting and regimentation in the matter of their physical ills and in the course they follow in having these dealt with they will vote "yes" on the plebiscite. On the other hand, if they wish to retain freedom of conduct in one of the most intimate concerns of their daily life they will give a most emphatic verdict of "no" to compulsion.

AWFULNESS OF OUR RESPONSIBILITIES

It seems to me a great and good lesson to go through these crowded places (speaking of Covent Garden market) to see what life is—the life of the millions, not of the few—and then to think of our aesthetics, as Kingsley said, and our life one long pursuit of enjoyment, and disappointment if we do not get it. . . . But suppose that cry goes up to the ears of God, and He asks, "Whom did you feed with your tens, hundreds, or thousands? Assuredly, protest against Kingsley who will, he stood on a deep, awful truth; God will take account of the selfishness of wealth, and His quarrel has yet to be fought out."

—From Life of F. W. Robertson.

The great mystery of the idea of sacrifice itself, which has been manifested as one united and solemn instinct by all thoughtful and affectionate races since the wide world became peopled, is founded on the secret truth of benevolent energy, which all men who have to gain it have learned—that you cannot save men from death but by facing it for them; nor from sin but by resisting it for them.—John Ruskin.

Chemical War on Dandelions Looms

WINNIPEG, May 10 (C)—The University of Manitoba chemists today are working out a preparation that will kill dandelions without injuring grass. They reported dandelions on Manitoba's Legislative Grounds today may be in for a short life this Spring. The new method of killing them has not been revealed.

How is your carnival spirit? Tomorrow will be Coronation Day, a proclaimed holiday and a day of public rejoicing. The streets are ready with their gaily colored lighting. Buildings have been dressed with gold, crimson and blue. Flags are flying from roof-tree to roof-tree, or standing proudly out on the breeze from lofty staffs. These are but the furnishings, the window dressing. You are the occupants of the community. How is your carnival spirit? Out in Beacon Hill the broom is bursting yellow buds through sleek green shoots. Tomorrow the broom will look like sheaves of sovereigns swaying in the wind, or like tiny yellow butterflies with their wings still folded. Nature is celebrating a very carnival of Spring, for your enjoyment. How is your carnival spirit? Will you unbend a little to wish your neighbor good-day, on this, the great day of public rejoicing for one-third of the habitable globe? Will you join in the carnival? Will you let yourself go and be as a child again, just for one day? If you will, you can make the carnival spirit bloom just like the golden-headed broom in Beacon Hill. It takes people to make a carnival. It takes happy people to make a successful carnival. Children are happy because they are not self-conscious. Tomorrow you, and all of you, can be happy if you will let yourself go. Cheer the veterans; heaven only knows how they have earned it. Cheer the children; it will put heart into them. Cheer for the many who have worked hard to make tomorrow a day to remember. Cheer others, and you will find yourself cheered. Bring your carnival spirit with you; for you are the carnival.

I haven't any gold in my garden, but I am not worrying about that, bless you. It no longer takes gold to make a mine. I am beginning to get the hang of it all now. I can show some dandy top-soil that originally must have come from the sedimentary rocks, because there are lots of stones in it. Down below that, though I am still waiting on an analysis of the drill cores, there is some first-rate sand. Some of the sand is dun-colored and some of it is black, and you know how valuable the black sands are. I'm nearly certain that if I hired two other fellows to sink a shaft right there behind the apple tree they would find hard pan, below a layer of blue clay. The blue clay is practically platocene in its pristine state; and hard pan is hard pan in any language. Everybody knows that you find things when you get down to hard pan, in placer operations anyway. This is a placer operation, I may say. I have sluiced and sifted and moved and removed the earth—pardon me, I mean the ore—for years, but I was working on the wrong end of the thing entirely. I was trying to garden. What I should have been doing was to mine it. Why there's a fortune in my back garden as a mining proposition. All I need now is a classy name for the property, and then I'll form a company to develop it. I think I'll call it the Good-As-Gold Home Dandelion Mining Company. When it comes to dandelions I can show colors for every square foot of the property. Why, I mined a dandelion yesterday in two seconds, just by putting a spade under it, and jumping hard on the handle. Moreover, to a fisherman (and every prospector fishes on the side) there were distinctly interesting possibilities wriggling in the earth—I mean in the ore.

This incident actually occurred at the head of the Lakes not so very long ago. Two little girls were visiting, while their parents conversed nearby in another room. There was a lull in the conversation of the grown-up, during which the following dialogue came crystal clear through intervening doorways: "My father," said the daughter of the house, "is a M.P.P." There was a moment's pause, then clear as a bell came the challenging reply from the little visitor: "Huh, that's nothing; my father is a N.P.M." An impressive silence followed. Then a meek voice asked: "What is a N.P.M.?" "A Newspaper Man," was the astonishing reply.

Healthy Occupation

Alderman John A. Worthington pointed out that not a single city alderman had passed away while on the job since incorporation of the city seventy-five years ago. He stated the record proved that civic service was a healthy occupation. . . . A medium-sized prairie newspaper carries a banner on the front page bearing the words: "One of Canada's Great Newspapers." Although comparisons are odious at times, we suggest "One of Canada's Great Newspapers" for The Colonist. . . . A traveler claims to have seen women and donkeys hitched together in some of the poorer European countries. We have seen a few in this fair city. A Toronto educationist stated persons between thirty and sixty years of age grasp problems of life more quickly than younger persons, but often allow themselves to grow old mentally and get in a rut. . . . We refer prospective provincial election candidates to a remark once made by Anthony Eden: "No policy can succeed if it is in conflict with moral standards of the people." . . . Edmonton, which, like Victoria, is on the eve of applying the Jules E. Fortin debt adjustment plan, has set aside $15,000 to be used in individual increases for city employees earning $1,200 and under. The Victoria City Council appointed a committee of four to investigate civic salaries with a view to assisting the underpaid. We believe it is high time the committee held a meeting.—G.B.

Not to the Swift

They say "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," but we know a young motor cycle policeman who had the "bird" in his hand, but failed to recognize him. It all happened recently when a business man, in a great hurry to get out to Saanich, was bowling along the highway about fifty per. The cop spotted him and gave chase. However, after he had followed the speedster for some four miles his motor bike broke down and he abandoned the chase, the motorist meanwhile being unaware of his pursuer. Returning to town later in the evening, the young business man was flagged by the officer, who asked him for a lift back to town, not recognizing his intended victim. Still ignorant of the whole proceedings, the young man obliged, but cleverly held his peace when the officer told him he would do to the so and so who had escaped the long arm of the law.—W.I.F.

A Real Champion

Finishing off last week's golf tournament, the women's B.C. championship, on Saturday in brilliant style, Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands Club, won her first provincial crown in convincing manner. She defeated Miss Kay Farrell, Vancouver, who was after her third title, in a match set for thirty-six holes, which ended on the twenty-ninth green, nine and seven. The Victorian played like a true champion all week, and therefore congratulations are extended to her from all sources and she certainly deserves every one of them. Mrs. Jackson's game during the tournament was near-perfect and she proved beyond any doubt that she was the best shotmaker in the field. On Tuesday she started off by winning the qualifying round, and then started her eliminations on Wednesday by defeating Mrs. Traill, Vancouver. She then disposed of Miss Dorothy Fletcher, a clubmate, and followed this victory with one over Miss Mary MacKenzie-Grave, city champion. Most of the field playing Miss Farrell were beaten before they started, but not Mrs. Jackson, who went out in the final more determined than ever, and the result shows that the defending champion was just another opponent to her.—J.D.

The New Golden Age

There was a strike in the days of Moses, when the workers ceased from labor since they could not make bricks without straw. And Moses led his people to the Promised Land. . . . Other leaders in other times have led or promised to lead; their people not to a promised land, but to a new era of plenty. The cry of the "Full Dinner Pail" is one of the oldest known to man. . . . It is even so with the Technocrats, who offer, under their system, which "cannot be operated by morons, nor the undisciplined mob, nor by sincere self-seekers," a new day in which citizens will have no debt claims against their fellow men, and unborn children. There will be no taxes, or unemployment, or need of annuities or insurance policies. There will be greater purchasing power. Toil and poverty will not exist. There will be a greater volume of goods and services scientifically distributed to everyone. It is a system that cannot be bribed or cypied, and favoritism will not count in its operation. . . . It is, in short, a golden period, devoutly to be wished, a new Utopia. This writer only hopes that such a good time may come, but is an honest doubter, knowing that Utopias have been suggested since the days of Greece, and have yet to become systems of government.—B.G.

Trio of Champions

Al McKinnon, former boxer who really knows the score in the glove-throwing pasture, is a happy man today and rightly so. Saturday evening at the Empire Theatre, McKinnon piloted three of his proteges to British Columbia championships, which is conclusive proof of his ability in the padded mitt game. . . . Henry Helgeson, Sooke's heavy-weight, took so much time complimenting Frank Glover, Vancouver, and his opponent in the title mix, that he was counted out before he realized what it was all about. Helgeson went down under a punch and rested on one knee while Referee Louis Gallan tolled the seconds. He had just remarked "Nice going kid" when the official counted ten. The Sooke boy jumped up to continue, but it was too late. Playfully, and just to show he was O.K., he picked Glover up in his arms with the ease that a proud father would his first-born, and then gently put him down. Nice, friendly fellow this husky youngster from Sooke.—S.T.

SOCIAL CREDIT

Sir,—The London Morning Post, in your quotation from it today, either willfully or from ignorance, repeats the ever-recurring misstatement that "the suggested payment of 'social dividends' (Major Douglas prefers the term 'national dividends') is sheer inflation under a specious and high-sounding name." A clear-thinking mathematician like Major Douglas could never stultify himself by suggesting so foolish a proceeding as to pump money into a market without providing against the otherwise inevitable rise in prices. The national dividend proposed by Major Douglas is only one of the three cornerstones on which are to rest the triangular pyramid of his proposed system of economics. Under it, prices are to be fixed by holding them to the just price by means of the national discount. Anyone who honestly wishes to understand Social Credit must take the trouble to read its literature and beware of taking his opinions—knowledge begets knowledge, but opinion only ignorance—from the often interested and generally misleading press.

THE YUKON

Sir,—The parolled health insurance scheme having failed to buy votes, we are promised a land flowing with milk and honey in the Far Yukon, plus $125,000 for five years to help the taxpayers over the side. After that, nothing is said. A few years ago a brother of mine traveled the whole territory, and the following is part of his letter. I had asked particularly what chances a young man had up there: "Anyway, it is no place for a young fellow to go to. The place is dying, and is only being held together by the old timers who will in time pass away. Unless there is another real and big gold strike, Alaska will be almost forgotten country in another ten years, if not sooner. The gold is almost gone, the furs get fewer each year, there are signs that the salmon industry is getting played out, and now the Government is talking of abandoning the railroad as it is being run at a loss of several millions a year. Except for two places, Fort Yukon, which is almost all Indian, and Petersburg, which is Scandinavian, every place looked like deserted slums and paint was almost non-existent. Quite a number of the residents live entirely on the tourist traffic, which is only of three months' duration. My pictures of Fort Yukon were taken at midnight and did not come out."

We are told in the election literature that gold is the chief asset, and that $200,000,000 has been taken out since 1896. Wonderful! That's $5,000,000 a year. In British Columbia we can collect around $125,000,000 from lumber alone in twelve months. However, there should be at least an opening for a paint shop, under the home improvement scheme.

Most of the white men marry native women, though this is not to be taken as derogatory to Indians, but owing to a shortage of whites, it should not be forgotten that the Indians might kick like the dickens over health insurance. Chief Isaac, for instance, has never seen a doctor, and would undoubtedly make a great pow wow if his tobacco money was taken away and he was given a health insurance card in lieu thereof. Anyway, Mr. Pattullo, if still there, might have to collect the dues for insurance in rabbit skins. If it costs $27,000,000 to run British Columbia how much will it cost to run a country two-thirds the size. Answer, $18,000,000. However, it must not be classed as a white elephant; rather should it be in the category of pink uns.

Plan Investigation Of Logging Carried Out by Kapoor Firm

Mayor Andrew McGavin Informs City Council That Water Committee Will Deal With Alleged Decimation of Jack Lake Area

A THOROUGH investigation of Kapoor Lumber Company operations around Jack Lake will be made by the water committee next week, Mayor Andrew McGavin informed the City Council yesterday afternoon. He invited aldermen to attend the meeting in order to decide what recompense the company should make for alleged decimation of a 400-foot fringe of trees ordered by the city to be left around the lake.

suggested the company should make restitution, to which Mayor McGavin heartily agreed. The mayor, thought the city might be able to collect damages or get the company to clear out Jack and Loon lakes, and carry out other necessary watershed work.

A letter from Elliott Maclean & Shandley, city counsel, pointed out the Kapoor Lumber Company had no right to create any sub-license or part license in Goldstream district without written consent of the City Council. In considering evidence submitted, counsel were of the opinion licences had been assigned contrary to provisions of an agreement with the city.

UNMITIGATED DAMAGE

In referring to the alleged cutting and removal of the 400-foot fringe around Jack Lake, counsel stated: "It is not easy to imagine a more insolent disregard of the provisions of a contract, and we have no doubt, on investigation it will be found that the unsupervised logging of the said area has resulted in unmitigated devastation."

In dealing with regular business, the council accepted tenders for wire, lead-covered cable and electric light globes, totalling $1,805.61. A letter from the local representative of the Northern Electric Company complaining that his firm had not had its fair share of electrical business was referred to the anniversary celebration committee.

A letter from S. A. Allison, 2821 Blackwood Avenue, stressing the need for construction of a road around Ocean View Beach and Saanich Spit, was endorsed by the council and referred to Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee.

SILENT TRIBUTE

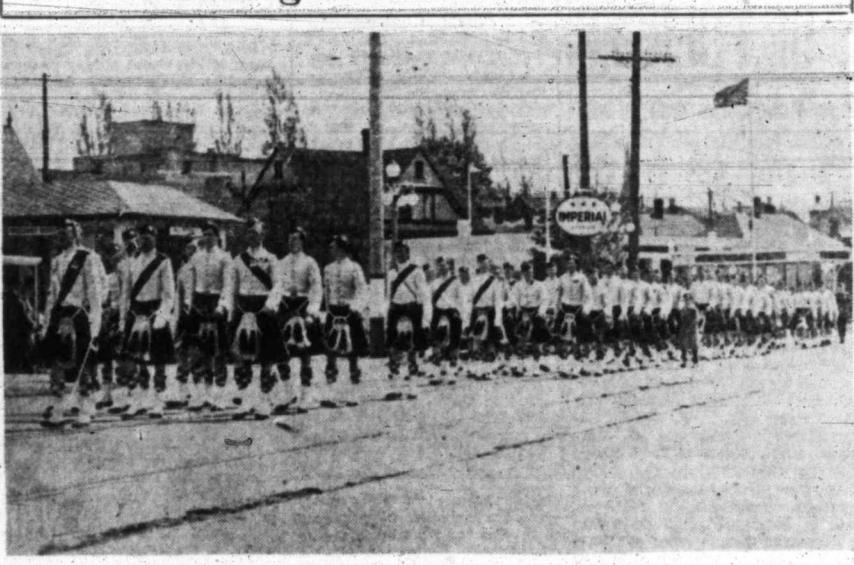

Silent tribute was paid to the memory of ex-Alderman W. F. Fullerton, and a letter of sincere sympathy ordered dispatched to his widow and family.

Aldermen agreed with statements made in a letter from the executive of British-Columbia-Agricultural Association that the automatic totalizer machines at Willows Park were quite satisfactory and should not be removed, as suggested by Vancouver division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, was instructed to proceed with negotiations between the city and Canadian National Railways to secure a nominal rental of $1 per year on Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd. premises at Ogden Point.

In discussing waterfront troubles, Alderman Dewar was afraid the American Mail Line might pass up Victoria if the dispute between the International Longshoremen's Association and Victoria Longshoremen's Association was not settled soon. The business and trade development committee was asked to take up the matter.

PALACE AND SLUM SHARE GALA EFFECT

THE LAST REHEARSAL
The last full rehearsal of Wednesday's impressive ceremony was held during the day, with the young Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, acting as "understudy" for the King in being crowned with a pasteboard imitation in the crowded Abbey.

Tonight the only big problem remaining was what Wednesday's weather will be like.
Weather experts of the Air Ministry were not exactly hopeful. They said the outlook was unsettled, issuing the official forecast as "a complex, low pressure system covers the British Isles and Southwest Europe." It did not afford grounds for optimism. Cloudy weather, with occasional rain, was forecast for tomorrow.

But regardless of the weather, the great show is going on in all its pomp. It was stated officially at Buckingham Palace that, whatever the weather, all processions to and from the Abbey will take place without any modification.

JOY WITHOUT WORRY
Crowded London, swelled again with 6,000 debarking from ten liners at Southampton and 200,000 arriving at Victoria and Charing Cross railway terminals from the provinces, devoted itself to enjoyment, without any worry over whether the sun shines or not.

If Sunday was any indication, rain won't make the slightest difference to the size of the street crowds on Wednesday. More than 500,000 gathered in Sunday's cold rain to watch the final street procession rehearsal.

A swell living in the Croydon Pond joined today in the spirit of the week. She found a small Union Jack and neatly incorporated it in her new nest.
Details of the elaborate pageantry in Westminster Abbey during the two hours prior to the arrival of Their Majesties were issued tonight in the full, official "ceremonial" of

FINICKY APPETITES OFTEN ONE RESULT OF CONSTIPATION

When nothing tastes right, and you don't eat as you should, the trouble may be common constipation. Poor appetite is one of its symptoms. Others are headaches, listlessness and sallow complexion. Constipation is usually due to "low-bulk" meals. Serve your family Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a generous source of "bulk."

Within the body, this food absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and sponges out the system. How much better than taking pills and drugs!

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London.

GEOLOGISTS MAKE STUDY OF SERIES

To study and examine outcrops of the Nanaimo series, members and friends of the Victoria Geological Society paid a visit to Saddle Hill on Sunday and also visited the shore line at the north end of the Saanich Peninsula.

At the lunch hour, with the aid of geological maps, George E. Winkler gave a brief explanation of the marine and terrestrial conditions obtaining when conglomerates, sandstones and shales of the series were deposited and coal beds formed. The Nanaimo series, he said, proved the most important on Vancouver Island, from the economic standpoint. The maximum thickness was noted as 13,200 feet, with an average thickness of 10,100 feet, according to Dr. C. H. Clapp.

Along the shore features of particular interest noted were the exposed beds of shale and sandstone and the weathering and honeycomb structures due to wave action, folds, strike faults of slight displacement, small sandstone dikes and the occurrence of a few corals, more noticeable in the Ganges formation. While on the tour, Gordon Ewan, it was reported, found a fossil that was not recorded by Dr. Clapp as having occurred in the upper cretaceous at the locality and marked by him as fossil-bearing.

GIVE REVIEW OF POLICIES

Four Liberal Candidates Address Meeting of Victoria West Electors

Reviewing the record of achievement of the Pattullo Government during its three-and-a-half-year term of office, four Liberal candidates went into action last night at Victoria West Social Hall in the first of the series of ward meetings during the present campaign. The speakers were Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Byron Johnson, member for Victoria in the last Legislature; Alderman William T. Straith and Mrs. H. P. Hedges, all candidates in the Victoria four-seat constituency. Alderman T. W. Hawkins was chairman.

Mr. Hart answered critics of Government expenditure. In 1932, he said, the ordinary expenditure of the Government then in office was $2,000,000 greater than the ordinary expenditure of the present Administration. On March 31, this year, he stated, the net debt of the Province was $12,395,000 and not $200,000,000 as had been stated by opponents. In 1932 the net debt was $136,818,000. Since coming into office, the Government had borrowed $24,000,000, of which $3,000,000 had been provided for roads and $3,000,000 for the new bridge and $18,000,000 for unemployment relief. The last Administration had increased the net debt $49,798,000, of which only $10,000,000 was for relief. "It is apparent," Mr. Hart continued, "our opponents are criticizing the present Government in the hope you will forget the past."

TRIPS TO OTTAWA

Referring to the charge that "trips to Ottawa" had been of no value to British Columbia, Mr. Hart said that on every occasion the members of the Government had been invited to go to the capital. Those trips, he declared, resulted in the securing of $750,000 annually as a grant until British Columbia's better terms case could be presented. The Government also received an additional $50,000 a month for relief, part of which had been handed on to the municipalities. He also discussed restoration of credit, industrial conditions and new investments, and concluded by saying he was prepared to stand by the record of the Government and continuance of the policy of economy in administration and a balanced budget, including unemployment relief.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION

Mrs. Hedges reviewed the important points in social and industrial legislation of the Government. She said she had been identified with the Minimum Wage Board when it was created by the first Department of Labor and at a time when labor was being exploited throughout the province, and asked what would have been the result of the depression had it not been for the Minimum Wage Act of the Liberal Administration. It had meant, she asserted, an increase of $26,000,000 in payrolls and orders and supplementary orders affecting 150,000 employees. She referred to mothers' pensions and asked "if we are to economize by taking it out of the people, then let's not economize." Mrs. Hedges also reviewed the working of several of the measures designed, she said, to assist labor.

NO EXTRAVAGANCE

Alderman Straith, in opening his address, paid tribute to women in the affairs of the country. Home is the unit of a nation, and the one who guides the destiny of the home should have a place in the direction of the affairs of the country. He made a bid for clean discussion of policies and principles in the present campaign. "We have no mud in our possession, and so we are not going to throw any, and I think I speak for all my colleagues. We stand behind the Government and its record," he declared. He denied the Government had been guilty of extravagance.

YOUTH TRAINING

Byron Johnson spoke briefly of his efforts to interest the Government in the need for youth training and the erection of a system of public arenas across the Dominion as a Federal measure, to be established.

Chamber Advises Local Stores to Close Tomorrow

THE retail merchants' section of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting held yesterday morning, recommended that all stores in the city close Wednesday for the Coronation celebrations.

The following resolution was passed: "Inasmuch as Coronation Day has been proclaimed by both the Dominion and Provincial Governments as a national holiday, but there has been no proclamation constituting it a holiday for the purposes of the Weekly Holiday Act, the executive of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce is unanimously resolved to recommend to all merchants that Wednesday be observed as a full holiday."

lished by payment of 50 per cent of cost by the Dominion, 50 per cent by the Province and the municipalities donating sites free of taxation. He mentioned the British Government was spending $10,000,000 for youth training, and intimated Canada must follow. Mr. Johnson also dealt briefly with trade matters, and suggested a decentralization of industry from the East, so that the Western Provinces, and British Columbia in particular, would receive greater benefits and be compensated for the revenue secured through Eastern purchases. It was necessary, he said, that more capital come into the province if it was to be possible for a Government to restore to the people an opportunity to work.

The Liberal Policy of Sound Finance

Has Restored Confidence in British Columbia

MORRIS W. WILSON, PRESIDENT OF THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA: "Nova Scotia ranks second among the Provinces of the Dominion, WITH BRITISH COLUMBIA FIRST IN CANADA'S MARCH back to complete recovery."

MONETARY TIMES (Toronto): "Honorable John Hart's budget speech delivered last week is one of the most encouraging pieces of financial literature that have been issued in recent years. IT IS A DOCUMENT OF WHICH THE PEOPLE OF THE COAST PROVINCE CAN BE DULY PROUD."

VICTORIA COLONIST, March 18, 1937: "The latest loan for $3,000,000 secured by the Government of British Columbia illustrates that the credit of the Province STANDS HIGH IN THE EASTERN MARKETS, the more especially because the loan is at 3 per cent, THE CHEAPEST MONEY EVER SECURED IN THE OPEN MARKET FOR PROVINCIAL PURPOSES. It can be admitted readily that this event is an outcome of the latest budget presented by Mr. John Hart."

Lovely Gowns Will Be Worn At Ceremony

LONDON, May 10 (AP).—Fashion experts looked today to the Coronation to complete the transformation of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands into one of Europe's most beautifully-dressed royal personages.

The once plump Princess, who wore cotton stockings before she married Prince Bernhard and tossed away eighteen pounds of weight and her Dutch trousseau during her honeymoon, for a Paris wardrobe, arrived in London last night with the smartest clothes she has ever owned.

In Westminster Abbey on Wednesday she will wear a gorgeous gown of supple parchment brocade, embroidered with flowers in two shades of gold. Cut on slender lines, it is finished off with a shining train.

GORGEOUS GOWNS

Princess Juliana, however, is only one of the visiting Princesses who have ordered gorgeous gowns for the occasion.

Princess Chichibu, wife of the brother of the Emperor of Japan, will wear a gown of gold lame, hand embroidered with diamonds and pearls in a design of Japanese chrysanthemums. She will wear it with a long train of the same material and a tiara and necklace of diamonds.

Georgian Choir Enjoys Social In Clubrooms

An enjoyable social evening was held recently by the Georgian Choirsters in the clubrooms on Port Street, when they had as their guests several members of the "Wednesday" Music Club.

A programme of vocal solos was given by several members of the choir, and this was followed by interesting games and contests arranged by Messrs. Reid and Keating.

Coronation motifs were used in the supper arrangements, which were delightfully carried out by the soprano section of the choir.

At the close of the evening a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. J. Kyle, was accorded all who had added to the evening's enjoyment.

Large Crowd Expected at Gala Affair

The climax of the elaborate Coronation Day programme in Victoria will be the Coronation ball to be held tomorrow evening at the Empress Hotel under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club. For many weeks the committee has been working out details of the final plans for the decorations and programme, and judging by the early sale of tickets, a large throng of guests is expected.

The ball is under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Administrator, Chief Justice Morrison, Commander and Mrs. C. T. Beard, Brigadier and Mrs. D. J. MacDonald, the Premier and Mrs. Pattullo, and the Mayor and Mrs. Andrew McGavin.

The grand march will commence at 9 o'clock and during the evening a large oil painting of His Majesty the King will be unveiled.

All the way from the Palmer House in Chicago will arrive Joy and Juanita, a celebrated dance team, and in addition to their entertainment, there will be a special Coronation floor number by the Dancing Debutantes.

A sit-down supper will be served in the ballroom and in the Tudor Grill, and Coronation souvenirs will be distributed to the ladies.

CROSSED WIRES
Dave and Joe were spending a few days in the country, and in a brief letter home Joe wrote: "Poor old Dave hasn't had a bite for a week, and he's feeling pretty bad about it."

On reading this, their mother was alarmed, and sent a telegram to Dave: "Joe writes that you have not had a bite for a week. Try castor oil."

Two days passed. Then a letter arrived from Dave.

"I got your telegram, telling me to try castor oil," he wrote. "But even with the hook dipped in it the fish won't bite."

In response to requests from patients in hospital and sick-at-homes at home, the B.C. Electric and The Colonist have made it possible for the state performance, on Thursday evening, of the Festival of British Music, to be broadcast from Christ Church Cathedral over CFCB.

This performance, in celebration of the Coronation of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, is being given by the Victoria Choral and Orchestral Union, and will be attended by His Honor the Administrator, who will be received by the Bishop of Columbia, the Prime Minister, the Dean of Columbia, the Mayor of Victoria and Warden of the Cathedral.

The work to be performed is Handel's "Zadok the Priest," first heard here fifty years ago when sung at a special service at Christ Church Cathedral, in commemoration of Queen Victoria's jubilee.

Ribbed silks are important this season for both daytime and evening.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM GAINS AT BILBAO

lines closer to Bilbao today from the northeast and southeast.

One of insurgent General Emilio Mola's columns, composed of Carlist and Fascist troops, hammered the Basque lines just outside Amorebieta, while "Black Arrow" battalions and Legionnaires swinging downward from the coastal sector advanced on Munguia.

Amorebieta, on the Durango-Bilbao road, is about seven miles southeast of the Basque capital, Munguia is about the same distance northeast of Bilbao.
Both columns moved under smoke clouds covering many square miles. Observers with the insurgents asserted Amorebieta and Munguia were set aflame and abandoned by the Basques, although they had built formidable trench systems about both.
Burning pine forests fired by air bombardments added more columns of smoke to the clouds hanging over the Biscargi hills northeast of Bilbao.

Irrespective of what party they represented, the women who had allowed their names to stand for nomination in connection with the forthcoming political election were thanked and congratulated by the council for their courage in coming forward.

PLANT PRESERVATION
Reference was made by Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie to the circular brought out by the Department of Education in the interests of the preservation of native plants, this action being the fulfillment of a promise made by Dr. S. J. Willis last year that each Spring an educational campaign along these lines would be conducted in the schools.

The meeting listened to a brief appeal by Mrs. Griffiths, representing the wives of the Unemployed Association, asking the local council to support a request now before the City Council for an increase of relief allowance to families in view of the advancing cost of living. This matter was left with the executive.

Describing the last previous conference, held in Honolulu, Dr. Randall-Colyer made it clear that delegates lent themselves wholeheartedly to the ideal of sisterhood, without barrier of color, race or creed, women of the Occident sharing dormitory with women of the Orient—Siam, Japan, China, etc. One of the most inspiring of the many inspirational and mentally stimulating speakers had been Dr. Ting, medical director of a women's hospital at Tientsin, who had expressed unfeigned pleasure at being able to attend a conference of such broad and impartial sympathies that the Chinese women delegates were able to express themselves naturally, unafraid, instead of as heretofore, giving a "Yes-Yes!" and a smile to everything the foreigner said. In conclusion Dr. Randall-Colyer voiced the hope that Victoria would send a strong group of observers to the forthcoming conference.

HELPING CONFERENCE
The Victoria Local Council, on Friday, June 4, will hold a bridge-tee, probably at the Y.W.C.A., for the purpose of raising $25 toward the financing of the Pan-Pacific Women's Conference. The executive and finance committee were authorized to carry on with the plans for this. The suggestion was made that each affiliated organization would try to arrange a table for bridge and supply something for the tea.

The Women's Auxiliary of the C.C.F.'s application for affiliation was received and accepted.
The meeting passed resolutions of congratulation to Miss Muriel Thompson on having won the award for the best play by a local author in the recent Drama Festival, and to Mrs. Ebbs-Canavan, for her Coronation poem.

Chief Makes Plea That Council Pay Telephone Bills

CHIEF of Police Thomas Heatley appeared before the City Council yesterday afternoon with a plea that the city pay the telephone bill of every member of the police force, as recommended by the police commission last Friday. Such a move would cost the city $862.40 for the balance of 1937, and approximately $1,300 for a full year. The council decided to take no action until hearing a report of the salary investigation committee, at the head of which is Alderman John A. Worthington. The committee will meet next week.

FINDINGS SUSTAIN SUPPRESSED REPORT
The Richmond report was withheld until yesterday by the Government.

"RAISED SUSPICIONS"
Explaining the reasons why the Richmond report, received by the ministry a year ago, was not published, Dr. John P. Walker, then British Columbia minister of mines, said in his report, in part:

"The Richmond report was not published because he raised in it suspicions concerning the cores obtained from the diamond drilling, criticized the management, and made recommendations regarding development work.
"Though Mr. Richmond raised suspicions, he stated in a letter to me that he was personally of the opinion that there had not been any tampering with the core as far as he could see, but that it would have been an easy thing to do.

"The (Mines) Department was not in a position to raise suspicions in the public mind regarding the possible salting of the core which it could not substantiate. It has not been the policy of the department to make recommendations regarding development work or to directly criticize the management of an operation, especially in the case of a company capable of employing a consulting engineer.

TIME INSUFFICIENT
"Mr. Richmond presented his resignation to the department during the preparation of the report, and there was not time in the interval between the receipt of the report and the end of April (1936) when he left the department, to have it rewritten for publication."

The department then chose Dr. M. S. Hedley as resident engineer to make an examination of the mine, and on July 9, 1936, instructed the company "to make public the true state of affairs at the property, or failing to do so, action would be taken by the department."

"By this time," continued Dr. Walker's report, "the stock had dropped from 25 cents a share to 17 cents per share, and continued to drop throughout the Autumn. The whole matter appeared to have corrected itself."

EVIDENCE FOUND
Of the aftermath, Dr. Walker stated:
"On March 5, 1937, Mr. Hedley was instructed to send an additional sixty check samples, and these all showed very small traces or no values. The Department of Mines checked the pulps of certain of Richmond's and Hedley's samples and also the pulps of certain samples checked from J. R. Williams. Evidence of probable salting was found in the presence of gold in the water soluble content, and also in the presence of chloride.

"An examination of the assay certificates submitted by J. R. Williams (employed as assayer by the company) shows clearly that his suspicions were aroused on February 8 (1937), and that on February 9 he had good reason to believe that certain samples had been salted.

This suspicion was confirmed by the assay of other samples on February 14 and 15, and later he went to the property to obtain check samples against a thirty-foot section of No. 7 hole, which contained extremely high values, and which on check sampling yielded practically no values. The result of this last work was reported to company officials on the afternoon of February 22, the day before the collapse.

INVESTIGATED AFTERWARDS
"The Department of Mines investigated thoroughly the possibility of salting, and how and where it could have been done, and is satisfied that Hedley's samples were salted, unknown to him. The evidence obtained shows that the salting was most likely done in his office by some person or persons unknown on the night of January 13, when he stored his samples overnight for shipment to Victoria the next day. The department had no suspicion that all was not well with the new drilling until February 23, the day of the collapse," Dr. Walker reported.

The department, Dr. Walker's report disclosed, finally got these suspicions when Russell Barker, former president of the company, and J. Y. McCarter, recently elected president, called on him on February 23, to state that the company's assayer had informed them the cores appeared to have been salted. That was the day the stock crashed.

RECOMMENDATIONS
Tying the voluminous record of more than 200 pages together, Commissioner G. L. Fraser recommended:
1. "Serious attention should be given to a company's financing being controlled by any person or corporation actively directing the operations of the company whose shares are being underwritten.
2. "It is a highly debatable point as to whether or not a broker interested in the financing of a company should be permitted to sit on its board of directors. This subject merits further consideration."
3. "In view of irresponsible information being given on occasions in misleading the public, it should be the duty of every directorate to prevent unauthorized or ill-advised news reports or statements, and at the same time it is advisable that correct information should be available to the public."
4. "It should be the obligation of every company which has granted options on shares listed on the Vancouver Stock Exchange to file a written statement twice weekly, with the exchange showing the position of the option, the number of shares actually taken up, and what is the number still outstanding; and the exchange should thereupon publish such information.

BROKER TRADING
"If brokers are to be permitted to trade for their own accounts, the Government and the exchange should discuss together the drafting of regulations for the protection of the public.
6. "The Vancouver Stock Exchange should be granted greater power to make effective by way of penalty or otherwise such reforms as have been indicated.
7. "The British Columbia Securities Act should be strengthened, where necessary, to make the above recommendations effective."

Commissioner Fraser reported flatly that the samples taken by M. S. Hedley for analysis were salted without his knowledge. He paid great attention to the Richmond report, pointing to serious discrepancies reported between $9 and $11 a ton, and "no ore of commercial value," and added:
PUBLIC NOT ADVISED
"It appears to me to be unfortunate that the Department of Mines did not publish certain statements in the Richmond report, although there seems to have been some excuse for not doing so. Particularly these portions of the report which showed how absurd was the Bacon estimate of $60,000 tons of indicated commercial ore should have been published in contradiction thereof.

"In truth the fact was, that, assuming the crushed core from which samples were taken had not been tampered with, the best that could be said for the property was that it justified further development work being done upon it," Mr. Fraser added, in a circumstantial report which touched on all phases of operations at the mine, as supplementary to his interim report on the stock trading.

ROMANCE
The boy and the girl sat on the park bench. The girl's head rested on her lover's shoulder. The boy whispered sweet nothings into her lovely ear. Above, in the heavens a million stars winked.
Suddenly a star fell out of heaven and the boy bent closer.
"A star just fell, my loved one," he breathed. "Make a wish."
The lass smiled sweetly.
"I wish," she wished, "that the boy I love would give me a nice roadster for a present—a nice wrist watch, and a big diamond ring."
The boy squirmed uncomfortably. Just then, another star dropped from the heavens. The girl's eyes grew very bright.
"Look, Jimmy," she chirped excitedly. "Another star just fell. I wish—"
The boy swallowed hard.
"There, there, honey," he interrupted hastily. "It's probably just your imagination!"

LITTLE CHANGE IN 1937 TAXES

Interesting Facts Are Compiled in Connection With Oak Bay Levies

The municipality of Oak Bay is sending out notices that taxes are payable on or before June 30 if penalties in the matter of increases are to be avoided. Information compiled in the municipal hall by R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, shows that, apart from local improvements, taxation rates on properties differ little this year from what they were in 1936.

The total tax levy for 1937 will be $205,308, as compared with $196,888 the year before. Tax levies for 1936 realized 64 per cent of the revenue of the municipality, the remainder being made up by water rates, government grants, licences, interest, etc.

An interesting comparison shows the various tax levies in Oak Bay year by year from 1914. Population in that time has increased from 3,600 to 7,000. Tax levies have advanced from $159,523 to $205,308. The large increase in this period has been in connection with the schools. In 1914 the levy for schools was $78,173. Local improvements show a reversed situation, for in 1914, under this head, $44,234 was levied, while in 1937 it is only $8,064.

HIGH YEAR 1930
The levy for 1937 is actually less than it was in 1920 and 1921. The year 1920 appears to have been the highest with regard to requirements over the twenty-four-year period. The tax levy in that year was $213,627.

Assessments show little change in the total, although building values have more than doubled in the twenty-four years, while land values have shrunk greatly.

In 1914 land assessments amounted to $8,079,460 and improvements $3,062,165, while in 1937 the figures are $3,237,660 and $8,109,120, respectively.

"When Love Is Young" Universal's scintillating romantic comedy, which comes to the Dominion Theatre today, brings a new Virginia Bruce to the screen.

For the first time on the screen she dances as well as sings, under the direction of Hal Mohr. Her movie romance with Kent Taylor is attended by hilarious situations, as well as moments of deep tenderness. Walter Brennan supplies his share of the comedy in a role strikingly different from anything the noted character actor has previously done. The music and the settings are colorfully elaborate.

YANKEES' PITCHER TURNS IN FINE PERFORMANCE

Freddie Steele to Meet Battaglia in Title Bout Tonight

World's Middleweight Championship Will Be at Stake in Seattle Ring This Evening—Tacoman Is Slight Favorite to Take the Decision

SEATTLE, May 10 (AP)—Freddie Steele, Tacoma, who once was refused permission to fight in Seattle because he was too skinny, will risk his middleweight title for the third time in the Clive Auditorium here tomorrow night when he clashes with Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, in a fifteen-round bout.

Ten years ago, when Freddie was fourteen, he came to Seattle to box a preliminary. The examining physician took one look at him and told him to go home and "grow up."

And Steele did a fair-sized job of growing. He became a six-footer and won the middleweight crown from Eddie ("Babe") Risko last July.

Tomorrow night, before a near-capacity crowd of some 9,000 fans, Steele will give Battaglia, a knock-out specialist, a crack at the crown for a purse of $17,500 or an option of 50 per cent of the gate, which might total $40,000.

WIND UP TRAINING

Both boys wound up their training yesterday. Steele at home in Tacoma and Battaglia in a Seattle gymnasium. The champion is expected to weigh in around 157 and Battaglia just around the 160-pound limit.

In the long-distance bout, the challenger figures he can wear Steele down with body punches and then put over his devastating right to the jaw. His chief hope for victory rests in a knockout.

If Battaglia drops Steele, he will be the first man to do the trick, for the champion has never been knocked off his feet and has lost only two bouts out of ninety-three, and those defeats were during the depression days when Freddie was a welterweight.

Both boys have fought the same number of battles, but Battaglia has the most impressive knockout record. He has flattened fifty-two opponents and Steele thirty-eight.

Ken Overlin, Richmond, Va., who was first scheduled to meet the champion and then became ill with yellow jaundice after reaching Seattle, will see the battle from the ringside and challenge the winner.

KERRISDALE IN FOOTBALL WIN

Defeats St. Saviours in Semi-Final of Mainland Cup Series, 2-0

VANCOUVER, May 10 (AP)—Kerrisdale, of the Vancouver and District Soccer League, Saturday qualified to meet Johnstons Nationals in the final for Mainland Cup competition, defeating St. Saviours, Intra-City League entry, 2-0.

Johnstons previously eliminated North Shore United to gain a place in an all Vancouver and district cup final to be played on Coronation Day, May 12.

Kerrisdale opened the scoring two minutes after the kick-off when Thompson headed through a well-placed corner taken by E. Rush. For the remainder of the first half St. Saviours had all the play, but owing to the heavy going and a strong Kerrisdale defence were unable to gain the equalizer.

Play was even throughout the second half, with both goals being hard pressed to clear. St. Saviours changed their team, with McMurdo coming on for Hendry at left wing and Murray West moving up to inside right. The move brought no results and Kerrisdale clinched the game with five minutes remaining when Todd accepted a pass close in to beat Glog easily.

The teams: St. Saviours—Glog; G. West, Anderson; M. West, Wolfe, Ross; Kerfoot, Knefer, Larsen, Newbold, Hendry. Sub: McMurdo.

Kerrisdale—Hunter; Crowson, Dunbar, Wallace, Paton, Ellison; E. Rush, Morrison, Todd, Thompson, R. Rush. Referee, Dick Woodward.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

There is no bigger mistake to be made by a player than that of selecting an impractical goal. By goal I mean a line or a spot on the fairway or green that is likely to be beyond your regular standard of performance.

This point applies especially to tee shots played with wood clubs. As a rule, the average player will try to hit a drive in keeping with what he thinks the occasion requires. If his opponent is hitting a long ball, he may try to out-drive him, or if he takes the long carry over a bunker or water hazard, an even longer carry becomes the objective. No matter how well off badly he has been hitting the ball, invariably he will try to outdo past performances. This is a sure way to fall short of them.

The best thing at all times is to play well within your capacity for the day. For example, pick a spot in the fairway within easy reach and with a line that doesn't put too much pressure on you. Then you will find that your ball travels a longer distance and you'll not have so much trouble keeping it straight.

Turns in Smart Pitching Performance for New York Yankees and Wins, 7-0—DiMaggio Hits Two Homers—Indians Beat Red Sox—Pirates Score Eighth Straight Victory

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Backing up Monte Pearson's one-hit pitching with a barrage that included three homers, the New York Yankees put a fancy ending to their four-game losing streak today by shutting out the White Sox, 7 to 0.

A pair of four-baggers by Joe DiMaggio, his first of the season, and another by George Selkirk, his fifth, lead the ten-hit attack.

New York 7 10 0
Chicago 0 0 1 2

Batteries: Pearson and Dickey; Jorgens; Lyons, Chelini and Sewell.

Wins Fifth Straight

CLEVELAND, May 10 (AP)—Cleveland's Indians won their fifth straight game today behind Earl Whitehill and Joe Heving, topping the Boston Red Sox, 6-5, in eleven innings. The victory kept Cleveland in a first-place tie with Philadelphia, which defeated Detroit.

Manager Joe Cronin's wild throw in the eleventh let Earl Averill in with the winning score. Sullivan sacrificed after Averill singled.

Ostermueller, fifth Boston pitcher, purposely passed Solters. Hale forced Solters, Ostermueller to Cronin, and Cronin tossed past Fox trying for a double play.

Whitehill struck out ten Red Sox in eight and one-third innings pitched. Heving, who got credit for the victory, relieved the southpaw after the Red Sox filled the bases. The Tribe pitchers gave away ten hits while the Indians were making seventeen.

Eleven innings. R. H. E.

The Athletics remained in a tie for first place with Cleveland. The Tigers used four pitchers, of whom only Vic Sorrell was effective.

Ends Losing Streak

PHILADELPHIA, May 10 (AP)—Bucky Walters limited Cincinnati to four hits today as the Phillies ended a five-game losing streak by pounding out a 10 to 3 victory.

The Phils, aided by Pinky Whitney's homer with one in the fourth, took a 5 to 1 lead in five innings and then staged a five-run rally in the sixth.

"Look you—there is the bag. It's not half full yet, and I'm not sending it away until I have it filled. Just a waste of time. I say."

RED INDIAN
Aviation Oil FOR MOTOR CARS

Just as the addition of tetraethyl lead created astonishing new qualities in gasoline, so CLARALLOY has added amazing new characteristics to mineral oil, increasing its film strength at least three times—a 3-fold safeguard against engine-wear. Red Indian Aviation Oil's triple film strength:

- Increases gasoline mileage by permitting the use of lighter grades of oils.
- Practically eliminates engine-wear and resultant repair bills due to oil film failure.
- Reduces carbon deposits and oil consumption.
- Decreases starting wear. Clings to metal surfaces and provides adequate lubrication even when the engine is cold.
- Positively eliminates bearing wear and bearing corrosion.
- Forms a tough film around abrasive dust particles—decreasing the harmful effects of road dust.

Give your engine the added protection of Red Indian Aviation Oil's Triple Film Strength—Change TO DAY to Summer Grade RED INDIAN AVIATION OIL—it costs only a few cents more.

*WHAT IS CLARALLOY?

CLARALLOY is a super-refined chemical whose discovery marks the most advanced development in E.P. (Extreme Pressure) Lubricants. The three outstanding characteristics of CLARALLOY are:

- (1) It triples the film strength of the finest mineral oil.
- (2) Makes it cling more closely to metal surfaces.
- (3) Creates an increased "oiliness" which gives adequate lubrication under all operating conditions.

Each one of these additional qualities, which CLARALLOY gives to Red Indian Aviation Oil, is of vital importance to motorists because each one provides additional protection from engine-wear. CLARALLOY plus Red Indian pure, was-free oil—Red Indian Aviation Oil; the sensational new lubricant which has Triple Film Strength.

Stock and Bond Prices Drop at New York Mart

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Light trading side-swiped the stock market today and leading issues were ditched for declines of 1 to 4 or more points.

Searching the news for possible causes of the setback, analysts found nothing particularly depressing, although, at the same time, little of an especially stimulating nature was discernible.

U.S. Steel touched off the slide and eventually broke 100. It closed at 99 1/2, off 4 1/4 net. Other steel issues were likewise down, Republic at 36, National at 33, Youngstown Sheet & Tube at 34 3/8 and American Rolling Mill at 34 3/8.

While steel bore the brunt of moderate offerings, and encountered little support at any time, rails, oils, motors, rubbers and a variety of recently strong specialties tipped the scales on the slippery slide.

Transfers totaled 779,430 shares, compared with 817,240 last Friday. A number of new low marks for the year were chalked up during the listless session. Of 800 changing hands, 592 were behind minus signs, eighty-three advanced and 125 were unchanged.

Speculative loans fell back in the bond market following bearish operations against listed stocks.

Other types of obligations, such as high-grade rail and corporate issues and U.S. Governments, either held their ground or edged higher. Foreign issues attracted little attention and were unevenly in narrow grooves.

MANY ATTEND BIG REGATTA

Keen Competition Features Coronation Meet Held at Cowichan Bay

DUNCAN, May 10.—Another huge crowd witnessed the Indian Regatta at Cowichan Bay yesterday, which this year was featured as the Coronation Regatta. Mayor James Greig of Duncan officially declared the regatta open in a timely speech. B. A. McKelvie, of Victoria, was a welcome visitor, and Hugh Savage, Duncan, gave a short address.

The feature event was a war canoe race for the British Columbia championship. Eight canoes, each carrying eleven paddlers, were entered and made an impressive picture with gay paint and flashing brightly-colored paddles. In this event, Saanich No. 5 was strongly favored to win as they were undefeated all last year, taking the championship, winning also the Jubilee event at Vancouver and then cleaning up the best crews mustered against them across the line.

However, they went down to defeat Sunday afternoon, bowing to a well-trained crew from Chemainus Bay.

The course was just short of three miles long and the time of the winners was 16:14, with Saanich No. 5 one and a half lengths behind. The winners were paddling sixty-nine strokes to the minute on the way out and advanced to seventy-five on the return trip.

Besides Chemainus Bay and Saanich No. 5, canoes were entered from Malahat, Soanemo, Klemlemlit, Green Point, Malahat (special) and Kuper Island. Altogether, eighteen canoes had entered for the race, but weather conditions prevented the rest from arriving.

EXCITING EVENT

Later in the afternoon another exciting war canoe race, in which the first winning canoe was eliminated, was held. The winning crew, but not the canoe, could enter, and the race again went to the crew from Chemainus Bay paddling the Westholme canoe. Saanich No. 5 came second and Caddy (Soanemo) third.

Other events during the afternoon were a single paddle race, won by Max Page, last year's winner, in Green Point, and James Joseph, of Malahat, paddling Baby Ruth, was a close second.

Only two pair of contestants braved the cold waters of the bay in the tip-over race. In this, each pair had to tip their canoes twice during the race over a short course. The event was won by Archie Harry and Henry James, of Malahat, the other contestants being Anthony Watson and Alex George.

The log rolling event, with five entries, was won by Alphonse Jonny, with A. Modiste a very close second, their falls from the log being matter of seconds apart.

The Cowichan Electric Band was in attendance, and their music during intervals between races was much enjoyed.

Pagant of Empire—In the "Pagant of Empire" being presented by the schools of the city at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the last time tonight, the last of the ten "episodes" brings together characterized units of the Commonwealth to pay homage to Britannia in the pagant's closing choruses. This incident evoked long applause from the great audience of school children present at the final dress rehearsal on Saturday afternoon and again from the adult audience present last evening. Assisting the producer, H. S. Hurn, were W. H. Muncy, chairman of the house committee; Miss Olive Heritage, who arranged the costumes; John Adam and Daisy Smith, narrators; the staff of the Royal Victoria Theatre under Reg. Bullock; Cecil Chaffield, who had charge of the properties; and A. L. Bagshaw, carpenter.

Flush Kidneys

of poisons and stop getting up at night

Having noted "A-cure" in thousands of cases, Dr. Pierce's "A-cure" for kidney troubles, which I have distributed to the latest and perhaps the most important of the Dr. Pierce's home remedies, "A-cure" which I now recommend for the relief of kidney troubles, irregularities, those who have irregularities of urination, disturbed sleep, depression, aches, pains, dizziness, headache, and all the ailments directly beneficial in flushing the kidneys, dilating and relieving irritation.

Taking a cup of hot water and Dr. Pierce's "A-cure" after every meal, should bring remarkably quick improvement.

CHAPTER XLVII

Sandra sat up, listening. The steady tramp had stopped. And then she heard the shrill little squeak of the gate and lay back on the bed smiling up at the dark ceiling. He couldn't leave his emotions on the porch and stalk off with Dame Reason on his arm. She knew, because she had tried. And how she had tried!

Through those first days in Maple Village, she hadn't thought of Ronny at all... or of Enid and Chet. In fact, she hadn't thought of anything for longer than it required to push it out of her mind. For then she had been in the grip of that deadening lethargy that seemed to extend to every fibre of her body and every cell of her brain.

But gradually, as she gained in strength, she became aware of an awakening interest in the life going on around her, and in those three kindly persons who had composed this small, congenial household before she came. First, in Lucille and Mrs. MacAllister, who were almost constantly with her—but finally and inevitably, she knew now, in Ronny. Then had begun that fight with herself which was to end in the sweetest defeat she would ever know.

As regularly as Ronny had reminded himself of his duty to Lucille, Sandra had said to herself, "I won't let Stephen down. I've kept him waiting so long—I won't let him down again!" Going through that losing struggle week after week, only to admit in the end that she had let Stephen down that night in Emily Stewart's garden and would never be able to make it up to him.

One thing had troubled her, and it troubled her even now. This was Ronny's persistent refusal to acknowledge by word or vaguest gesture what she read in his eyes a hundred times a day—that he loved her as she loved him, wholeheartedly, hopelessly. Oh, she was so very sure of this, for now there was no more of that surface smoothness and inner confusion that had been her life before she came to Maple Village. She saw things clearly here. And what she saw in Ronny's eyes was what she felt, throbbingly, through her whole being when Ronny was near.

Bump, bump!

Ronny? Lucille hadn't come back yet. Perhaps they were out there together. Perhaps... This was not the first time she had thought of Lucille as a possible explanation of Ronny's curious conduct. Long ago she had looked with open envy upon Lucille Baldwin's dark beauty and wondered that Ronny could have had eyes for any other girl. But Lucille invariably talked of Ronny as she might have talked of a brother. Though she knew Lucille was far too well poised to give herself away if she should want to conceal her feelings.

Sandra listened, intently, for the sounds of subdued voices—but she could hear nothing. Two steps she had heard, nothing more.

Suddenly she rose from the bed, went to the window and drew the shade back a bare inch. Ronny's shadowy figure was perched on the top step. He was alone. Quickly, Sandra moved on tiptoes.

If Ronny knew some one had come up behind him, he gave no sign. Little by little Sandra moved nearer until at last she leaned against the post, so close to him she could have ruffled his hair by lifting her hand.

"Have a nice walk, Ronny?" He was on his feet, frankly startled. "See—here—what's the idea?" And then, the ripple of her laughter in his ears. "Thought you promised Lucille not to stay up long—thought you were cold?"

"I couldn't sleep," she said, laughter still in her voice.

"Why couldn't you sleep?"

"Oh—thinking about things."

"You're not supposed to do any thinking. Don't you know that?"

Her face was a blur, but memory supplied every detail that he adored.

"Thinking about what?"

"Oh, one thing and another. About you, and you, and you, and you..."

It was useless, that invitation. She knew that. But she did love him so! And then she felt his hands on her arms, and she was cold again until a hot flame swept over her and took her breath away.

"You—you invalid!" Ronny said, and kissed her. Kissed her as he had kissed her in a Greenwich garden one cold December night.

"My sweet, sweet darling! I've wanted you so terribly this last week, Ronny. More than ever before and I think I've always wanted you until it hurt."

Ronny didn't say anything. Ronny couldn't say anything. He would only hold her close to him, a hand moving caressingly over the smoothness of her slim back, his lips seeking hers, as if from a hunger that could never be satisfied.

Enclosed in their own sweet world they had neither care nor eyes for that lonely figure hurrying along the silent street.

"TAURUS"

If May 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 12:45 to 2:45 p.m., and from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m., from 4:45 to 6:45 p.m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

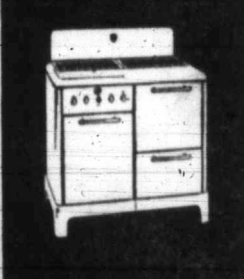

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning, and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose use MacFarlane and Vancouver Balm, or any drugstore, a package of Hemoroid, and use as directed. This formula, which is used intensively, quickly relieves the itching and soreness, and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription, and is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy which is so pleasant to use, may be had at such a reasonable cost. (Adv.)

NEW TEST PROVES ECONOMY OF 1937 GAS RANGES

OUR TEST SHOWED THE NEW RANGE WITH ITS INSULATED OVEN AND NEW TYPE BURNERS SAVED UPWARDS TO 25% OF THE COST OF OPERATION!

IN an actual test conducted by our Home Service Department, we found that a new Moffat gas range cooked a complete dinner on 25% less gas than was used by an old-fashioned gas range! Identical dinners were cooked on both ranges, using both surface burners and oven. Gas consumption was measured through a special testing meter. The old range used 75 cubic feet of gas... the new range used only 57 cubic feet. Think how much a modern, automatic, insulated gas range would save for you in a year!

FREE INSTALLATION

Any new gas range you choose will be installed FREE, with special terms as low as $5.00 down, and a cash allowance for your present gas or fuel-type range. For full details of this special offer, phone the B.C. Electric Gas Department, Garden 7121.

Ask also about the special 50c-a-month rental offer on automatic gas water heaters, and the step-down gas rate for cooking with water heating. B.C. Electric Gas Department, G 7121.
